

Phonograph Lorio and his pupils will give a series of entertainments in the court-house on Monday evening.

From our correspondent at Fort Yuma we are that a company of cavalry left that place Monday last for Camp Goodwin.

Judge ISHAM REAVIS the new judge in place of Judge Carter of the Paz District was confirmed by the Senate, April 20th. We learn at he is from Nebraska and is said to be a young man of fine attainments.

The order for the removal of the officers and portion of the enlisted men of each company of the 14th infantry from Arizona, has considerably weakened the military force in the territory.

SETTLED DOWN:—Mr. M. Goldbaum, one of the early pioneers of Arizona, after encountering most of the varied fortunes of frontiersmen for the past ten years, has come to Tucson to make his home. He carries on the butchering business and keeps a thriving meat-market on Tucson main street.

HORSE-RACE:—A very exciting horse-race took place on Friday evening. The horses, numbering five, were not the most spirited nor was it necessary that they should be, as each rider might be said to represent some six bottles of "chubasco" ale. Mr. Z— (outside of some six bottles) put his competitors to shame.

FIREWORKS: On Wednesday night our citizens with one accord seemed to fancy that a little novelty was necessary to disturb the sameness of business life and accordingly kept main street in a perpetual blaze from sky rockets, fire crackers, etc., for upward of two hours.

SIDNEY R. DeLONG, formerly editor of the ARIZONIAN, has engaged in business at Camp Britenden and there taken up his residence. Our friend Sidney has accumulated considerable money in Arizona and with his characteristic foresight is now investing it freely in this southern portion of the Territory—well knowing that ere 1875 shall have dawned, the same property which may now be purchased for $500 will be good value for $5,000.

How to smoke:—Buy first a box of Goldberg's best cigars; buy next an arm chair; (in this second purchase be very cautious that you do not swindle yourself by selecting an article, as we did, which will crumble beneath a weight of less than 130lb., avoidupois) throw yourself back in the latter then take a cigar from your box and puff away. Now if any one is sceptical regarding this recommendation he has only to try and satisfy himself.

PROF. R. W. RAYMOND, successor to J. Ross Browne as United States mining commissioner, frequently refers to our new Governor, Hon. A. P. K. Safford, and acknowledges indebtedness to him for aid in making up his reports concerning Nevada. Gov. Safford is not only a practical miner of much experience but one of the best authorities on the Pacific coast in mining matters. He is also entirely familiar with surveying and all the questions pertaining to land titles. These qualifications will particularly fit him for usefulness and popularity in Arizona.

A THIEF BROUGHT TO GRIEF:—A Mexican named Soto went to the store of E. N. Fish & Co., on Wednesday evening, and after examining several articles and objecting to the rates concluded to refrain from purchasing. He had, however, an object in view, and after a little time stole quietly to the counter upon which was piled various classes of goods, selected one piece and started for the street. After traveling a distance of three blocks he was overhauled when, being relieved of his plunder, he received a few tokens of negative good-will which will doubtless teach him to exercise a little more caution when next he steals.

We are sorry to record the departure from Arizona, of Col. Guido Ilges, who on Thursday last left for the Eastern States. The Colonel came to Arizona in 1866, and had command of Camp Grant until February 1867 when he was transferred to the command of Camp McDowell; here he remained until June of the same year when he returned and again assumed command of Camp Grant where he has since remained. A thorough gentleman, of irreproachable character; of high and noble ambition, the Colonel bears with him the good wishes of all and will not soon be forgotten by the many friends he made while in Arizona.

MURDER:—A most brutal murder was perpetrated here on Sunday last. The victim was a Mexican named Gravel Yregolla; the author of the foul deed is supposed to be one Valdanegro; particulars as nearly as we can ascertain are as follows: It appears that Yregolla had at one time been in the habit of visiting the house of Valdanegro whose wife he (Yregolla) at length induced to leave her home and husband and go with himself. The abandoned husband, we are informed, tried every effort in his power to induce his wife to return to him or to again obtain possession of her without exposure, but all in vain; He therefore became desperate and set forth armed with a club, in search of the seducer of his wife and destroyer of his happiness and finding him alone beat out his brains. The murdered man was not discovered until some time after the occurrence. No clue as to the hiding place of the murderer has as yet been discovered. But little sympathy is felt for the deceased.

The Commanding officer at Camp Grant, it would appear, has become determined to follow up the chastisements so recently inflicted upon the Indians, by active measures,—measures which will certainly be followed by satisfactory results. Since the Masacre recorded a few weeks since scarcely a breathing time has been allowed the Apaches from the presence of scouting parties from Camp Grant among them. Again, we hear Colonel Green, the commanding officer, has dispatched Col. Dunkelberger and Lt. Calhoun with as many men (cavalry and Infantry) as can be spared from the post, with 16 days rations and orders to pursue the Indians, and when rations begin to run short to draw a fresh supply at the nearest military post and start forth again. Camp Grant has "taken the lead" and seems determined to keep it.

CELEBRATION:—The festival of Corpus-Christi was celebrated by the Mexican portion of the inhabitants of Tucson, on Thursday, with all the pomp and solemnity which characterize religious celebrations among the Spaniards and their descendants. Some of the principal streets were studded on either side with green boughs gathered the previous night. Arches and shades constructed of gauze and decorated with flowers etc., were erected at various points on the streets and plazas. The procession numbering more than a thousand—men, women and children—marched through the various ornamented streets while appropriate music by the "band," in front, lent additional solemnity to the occasion. At 10 o'clock the procession reached the church which was duly ornamented for the occasion; here the celebration ended, after some further ceremonies.
